

George Rogers Clark, 90, passed away peacefully on February 24, 2010 in Bozeman, Montana. George was born on March 2, 1919 at home in Grass Range, Montana, the 9th child of Sumner and Nellie Clark.

George went to school in Grass Range, Montana and worked in his father's General Store until he joined the Army Air Corp.

While in the Army, he married Helen Fraser of Lewistown. They were married in Florida on September 25, 1943.

George worked for the Federal Aviation Agency in Lewistown for 30 years.

After returning from World War II in November of 1945, George and Helen lived in Washington state and Missoula before returning to Lewistown where they lived until June of 2009, at which time they moved to Bozeman, Montana.

George is survived by his three children, Dee (Richard) Rued, of California, Dale (Mary) of Bozeman, and David (Roxanne) of Texas; grandchildren, Tom Rued, and Steve (Sonia) Rued, of California, Chad (Amy) Clark, of Oregon, and Craig (Heather Martelle) Clark, of Bozeman; five great grandchildren, Allyssa and Nadya Rued, Gus Clark and Boden, and Zoey Clark.