

Drina was born in Port Angeles Washington to Floyd and Betty Noble on September 9, 1945, while spending summers on her grandmother's farm in Carlsberg, on the Olympic Peninsula.

After graduating from Shoreline High School, she completed beautician's school, and while working as a beautician, she married Robert in 1979 in Redmond, Washington.

Drina and Robert worked side by side in the family business, a Chevron Mini Mart in Redmond, Washington, while raising two wonderful children, Jennifer and Anthony. After retiring in December of 2000, Drina and Bob moved permanently to Belgrade.

Her interests were crafts, cooking, gardening, and participating in the Bogart Farmers Market.

She was a loving wife, super mom, and grandmother, her kids and grandchildren were the light of her life.

She is survived by her father-in-law Robert, of Belgrade; her husband Robert, of Belgrade; her daughter Jennifer (Erik) Slye, and their children, Tristan, Tyler, Savannah, of Belgrade; son Anthony (Heather) Barnaby, and their son Colter, of Bozeman; and brother Brad (Sue) of Bothell, Washington.

Thank you everyone for the love, care, friendship, and prayers you have extended to Drina.
